THE GRAPHITE.

The Joseph Dixon Crucible Company's monthly periodical, "The Graphite," for April, is full of illustrations of large buildings and bridges on which graphite paint has been used to prevent rust.

Graphite paint, a long time ago, among sensible as well as experienced people, established for itself a lasting reputation, as an anti-rust material, of excellence. Indeed, it can justly be said for it, that it was the correcting influence of a prevailing sentiment that any old greasy thing in the way of paint, skim and fat paint, was good enough for tin roofing and iron work anywhere and everywhere.

"The Graphite" for April gives all the evidence that is needed to convince anyone of its efficiency in preventing rust, as well as its durability, and it is now being used on the big Wanamaker building on Market street, because the architects, Burnham & Co., of Chicago, having erected more iron structural buildings than any similar concern in the country, know a thing or two about anti-rust paint, and consequently give Dixon's Graphite the preference.

The 20th Century Hot Air Radiator System of Heating

MORE efficient and more reliable than hot water or steam, with the cost of installation one-half. The radiators are made of sheet steel, and can be set in any desired part of the room without cutting carpets or holes in floors. They can be decorated to conform to the room decorations; no iron pipes and valves coming up through the floors to leak and cause annoyance and destruction. The hot air from the furnace, located in the cellar, passes through the radiators in each room, giving an even and delightful temperature, without dust, smell or odor of coal gas, or any of the other numerous bad features of registers, hot water or steam. The circulation of the hot air through the 20th CENTURY HOT AIR RADIATOR is perfect and constant, is always under absolute control and the heat can be regulated in each room. Any make of furnace, new or old, if efficient, can be used. The cost of installation is much less, and the economy of fuel much greater than in the best of hot water or steam heating systems, and the results far superior. We are now prepared to install complete THE 20th CENTURY HOT AIR RADIATOR SYSTEM in new or old houses under our guarantee as to its efficiency. Advise location and size of property, when estimates on the cost of installation will be furnished without charge.

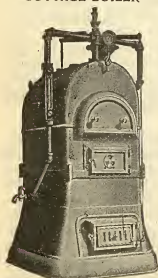

Descriptive booklet and photographs mailed to your address for the asking.

THE GRAPHITE.

The Joseph Dixon Crucible Company's monthly periodical, "The Graphite," for April, is full of illustrations of large buildings and bridges on which graphite paint has been used to prevent rust.

Graphite paint, a long time ago, among sensible as well as experienced people, established for itself a lasting reputation, as an anti-rust material, par excellence. Indeed, it can justly be said for it, that it was the correcting influence of a prevailing sentiment that any old greasy thing in the way of paint, skim and fat paint, was good enough for tin roofing and iron work anywhere and everywhere.

"The Graphite" for April gives all the evidence that is needed to convince anyone of its efficiency in preventing rust, as well as its durability, and it is now being used on the big Wanamaker building on Market street, because the architects, Burnham & Co., of Chicago, having erected more iron structural buildings than any similar concern in the country, know a thing or two about anti-rust paint, and consequently give Dixon's Graphite the preference.

The 20th Century Hot Air Radiator System of Heating

MORE efficient and more reliable than hot water or steam, with the cost of installation one-half. The radiators are made of sheet steel, and can be set in any desired part of the room without cutting carpets or holes in floors. They can be decorated to conform to the room decorations; no iron pipes and valves coming up through the floors to leak and cause annoyance and destruction. The hot air from the furnace, located in the cellar, passes through the radiators in each room, giving an even and delightful temperature, without dust, smell or odor of coal gas, or any of the other numerous bad features of registers, hot water or steam. The circulation of the hot air through the 20th CENTURY HOT AIR RADIATOR is perfect and constant, is always under absolute control and the heat can be regulated in each room. Any make of furnace, new or old, if efficient, can be used. The cost of installation is much less, and the economy of fuel much greater than in the best of hot water or steam heating systems, and the results far superior. We are now prepared to install complete THE 20th CENTURY HOT AIR RADIATOR SYSTEM in new or old houses under our guarantee as to its efficiency. Advise location and size of property, when estimates on the cost of installation will be furnished without charge.

Descriptive booklet and photographs mailed to your address for the asking.

THE NEW PRESIDENT.

The American Fire Insurance Company of this city is particularly fortunate in the election of Mr. John H. Packard, Jr., as president of the company to succeed Mr. Thomas Montgomery, deceased.

Mr. Packard was for a number of years the company's vice-president and is consequently not only thoroughly versed in fire insurance matters, but his long and uninterrupted official association with the affairs of this company peculiarly fitted him as Mr. Montgomery's successor as president.

Mr. Packard is right in the vigor of his manhood, and besides being an experienced executive officer he possesses energy associated with good judgment and a superior knowledge of his business.

The old paint supply house of Felton Sibley & Co., 136-38-40 North Fourth street, not only maintains all its prestige of former years, but keeps on growing in the esteem and patronage of its customers, because of its efforts to please in every direction and because its guarantee of quality, weight and price is just as sacred now as it was many years ago when most of our readers were boys.

The firm is also extensive manufacturers of both paint and varnish and no doubt the fact that it is peculiarly able to maintain the purity of its products has a far-reaching influence in its prolonged success.

Men come and go, and have come and gone by the millions since this old house was established, but the old house is still there with the self-same business methods that have characterized it from the beginning.

THE GRAPHITE.

The Joseph Dixon Crucible Company's monthly periodical, "The Graphite," for April, is full of illustrations of large buildings and bridges on which graphite paint has been used to prevent rust.

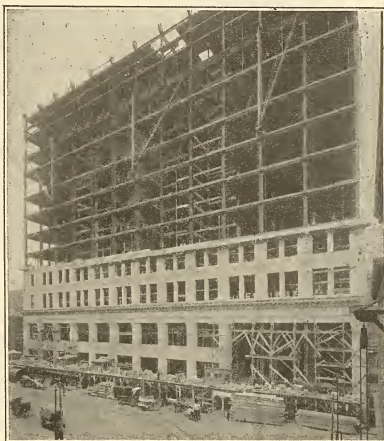

Graphite paint, a long time ago, among sensible as well as experienced people, established for itself a lasting reputation, as an anti-rust material, par excellence. Indeed, it can justly be said for it, that it was the correcting influence of a prevailing sentiment that any old greasy thing in the way of paint, skim and fat paint, was good enough for tin roofing and iron work anywhere and everywhere.

"The Graphite" for April gives all the evidence that is needed to convince anyone of its efficiency in preventing rust, as well as its durability, and it is now being used on the big Wanamaker building on Market street, because the architects, Burnham & Co., of Chicago, having erected more iron structural buildings than any similar concern in the country, know a thing or two about anti-rust paint, and consequently give Dixon's Graphite the preference.

The 20th Century Hot Air Radiator System of Heating

MORE efficient and more reliable than hot water or steam, with the cost of installation one-half. The radiators are made of sheet steel, and can be set in any desired part of the room without cutting carpets or holes in floors. They can be decorated to conform to the room decorations; no iron pipes and valves coming up through the floors to leak and cause annoyance and destruction. The hot air from the furnace, located in the cellar, passes through the radiators in each room, giving an even and delightful temperature, without dust, smell or odor of coal gas, or any of the other numerous bad features of registers, hot water or steam. The circulation of the hot air through the 20th CENTURY HOT AIR RADIATOR is perfect and constant, is always under absolute control and the heat can be regulated in each room. Any make of furnace, new or old, if efficient, can be used. The cost of installation is much less, and the economy of fuel much greater than in the best of hot water or steam heating systems, and the results far superior. We are now prepared to install complete THE 20th CENTURY HOT AIR RADIATOR SYSTEM in new or old houses under our guarantee as to its efficiency. Advise location and size of property, when estimates on the cost of installation will be furnished without charge.

Descriptive booklet and photographs mailed to your address for the asking.

THE GRAPHITE.

The Joseph Dixon Crucible Company's monthly periodical, "The Graphite," for April, is full of illustrations of large buildings and bridges on which graphite paint has been used to prevent rust.

Graphite paint, a long time ago, among sensible as well as experienced people, established for itself a lasting reputation, as an anti-rust material, par excellence. Indeed, it can justly be said for it, that it was the correcting influence of a prevailing sentiment that any old greasy thing in the way of painting, skin and fat paint, was good enough for tin roofing and iron work anywhere and everywhere.

"The Graphite" for April gives all the evidence that is needed to convince anyone of its efficiency in preventing rust, as well as its durability, and it is now being used on the big Wanamaker building on Market street, because the architects, Burnham & Co., of Chicago, having erected more iron structural buildings than any similar concern in the country, know a thing or two about anti-rust paint, and consequently give Dixon's Graphite the preference.

THE GRAPHITE.

The Joseph Dixon Crucible Company's monthly periodical, "The Graphite," for April, is full of illustrations of large buildings and bridges on which graphite paint has been used to prevent rust.

Graphite paint, a long time ago, among sensible as well as experienced people, established for itself a lasting reputation, as an anti-rust material, par excellence. Indeed, it can justly be said for it, that it was the correcting influence of a prevailing sentiment that any old greasy thing in the way of paint, skim and fat paint, was good enough for tin roofing and iron work anywhere and everywhere.

"The Graphite" for April gives all the evidence that is needed to convince anyone of its efficiency in preventing rust, as well as its durability, and it is now being used on the big Wanamaker building on Market street, because the architects, Burnham & Co., of Chicago, having erected more iron structural buildings than any similar concern in the country, know a thing or two about anti-rust paint, and consequently give Dixon's Graphite the preference.

TRY IT AND BE CONVINCED

It is natural that every owner of property should desire the lasting quality in the material used as one of the essentials for which he pays the price asked.

Of course, there are many who will not pay the price asked for first class work and material, and indeed there are many who cannot afford it.

The question, however, we desire to settle is one wherein the cost for over sixty years of assured durability is no greater than that of the other wherein the absence of the much desired durability is no longer an open question.

A man paints his house, barn, wagon, boat or anything, new or old, and in very many instances, so far as durability and prolonged good appearance are concerned, he might as well put on a coat of whitewash.

The question then which most concerns the fellow who pays the bill is what paint to put on. What paint or lead possesses the lasting qualities which every sane person seeks?

We say use Samuel H. French & Co.'s (4th & Callowhill) Buck Lead, which is a combination white lead, and for that reason it possesses the durability as well as the incomparable white appearance people seek.

Of course, like pure white lead it can be colored to any shade, but if mixed with pure linseed oil it will not rub off like lime nor will it scale.

Who can say as much for pure white lead and linseed oil? We, having tried both, know whereof we speak.

DAVIS' ARCHITECTS' AND BUILDERS' DIRECTORY FOR 1905.

A copy of this invaluable work has just come to us from the publisher's office, 603 Chestnut street.

The Davis Directory is so well known in the building trades that any praise from us would seem superfluous.

It could hardly be any better than it has always been, for it was always among the best of its kind anywhere.

It is one of the easy ways to quick results, and which everyone needs in his office just because the name and address of the fellow you want is within its cover and in good plain type. The cost of Davis' Directory is $2.50. Be wise and get one.

HENDRICKS' COMMERCIAL REGISTER OF THE UNITED STATES.

We are in receipt of a copy of the fourteenth annual edition of this work. To properly estimate its value to the subscribers would be quite as difficult as to approximate the cost of its production. The job of canvassing the cities and towns of the United States in order to compile in a single directory the architects, builders and contractors, as well as those engaged in the manufacture and sale of construction material, is not only a proposition involving money, work and care, but it is a stupendous one. The Hendricks Company find it easier than at first, because it has been driving at it for fourteen years and because it has an appreciative national public as its patron.

Send for the book by all means. It costs $7.00, and the office is at 76 Elm street, New York.

John D. Allan Company, architects and engineers, Betz Building, have completed plans and specifications and invited estimates for the remodeling of the Trocadero Theatre at Tenth and Arch streets. Cramp & Co., and the Charles McCaul Company have plans posted.

The following builders have been invited to bid by Arnold H. Moses, architect, 136 South Fourth street, on the Kitchen building and two additional ward buildings at the Samaritan Hospital at Broad and Ontario streets, at a cost of $50,000: John R. Wiggins & Co., H. B. Shoemaker & Co., William R. Dougherty, Henderson & Co., and Edward F. Fonder Company.

Henry L. Reinhold, Jr., architect, 1004 Chestnut street, is working on plans and specifications for the new front for the Penn Trust Company at Norristown, Pa. It will be of limestone, with a granite base and iron grilles on the windows and doors. A copper bay window, surmounted by a large copper dome, will also be built. Plans will be ready for bids in a short while. P. J. Hurley is bidding.

Wesley Leshner Blithe, architect, 14 South Broad street, has been commissioned to prepare plans and specifications for a new edifice, Sunday school and young people's building for the congregation of the Wharton street Methodist Episcopal Church, to be erected at the northeast corner of Fifty-fourth and Catharine streets. The church is to be built first and the other buildings will follow. Work is to cost about $100,000.

Rowland W. Boyle, architect, 1626 Chestnut street, has completed plans and specifications and invited estimates for addition to the school building of St. Ann's Roman Catholic congregation at Lehigh avenue and Belgrade street. Plans provide for a three-story addition, 24x36 feet, to be built of brick and stone. Details previously noted. The following are bidding: Edward Malloy, John Gordon, Edward Fay, David Day and John McShane. Bids due July 8th.

H. N. Moffett, architect, Camden, N. J., has been commissioned to prepare plans and specifications for an eight-room brick and limestone trimmed school to be erected at Moorestown, N. J. It will be two story and basement high and will contain all up-to-date appointments and conveniences, and are estimated to cost about $30,000. Their plans were accepted in competition and working drawing will be prepared at once and bids for the work be invited on or about August 1st.

Thomas Stephens, architect, Masonic Temple Building, Camden, N. J., has completed plans and specifications and invited estimates for a branch free library to be erected at Federal and Twenty-seventh street and Westfield avenue that city. It will be two stories high, 32x50 feet and be built of brick and Indiana limestone, and contain all the modern appointments and conveniences. P. J. Hurley, builder, of 1216 Chancellor street, and W. R. Dougherty, have plans posted for bids until July 11th.

BUILDING OPERATIONS AND TRANSFERS OF REAL ESTATE

3054 new buildings of all kinds for which permits were issued, costing $17,884,194.00, exclusive of the cost of the land, 1,547 more new buildings than for the same months of last year, with an increase in the investment of $3,380,071.00.

1,209 alterations and additions (costing $300 and over, only, included), costing $1,813,500.00, an increase of 67, and investment increase of $100,500.00
Total expenditures, $19,697,694.00, a difference of $3,480,571.00, in favor of this year.

10,284 transfers, amounting to $58,611,679.26.

Through the kindness of Mr. Theodore James, Chief Clerk of the Board of Revision of Taxes, we are able to say that on January 1, 1905, there were in this city 304,371 buildings of all kinds. Of this number there were 275,269 dwellings of all kinds. The balance of 29,102 includes mills, factories, foundries, shops, churches, banks and other buildings used for business purposes. The total assessed value of real estate on which taxes are paid amounts to $1,160,392,710.

With 6,654 new buildings for the first six months of the present year it is at least safe to predict that the results of the entire year will not suffer when compared with those of 1904; and, indeed, were it not for the present apathy in the direction of large buildings, the present year might yet be made the banner year in the history of the city's development, for 1889, with its grand record of 10,250 new buildings of all kinds, shows, by our office records, that it is entitled to 6,489 for the first six months of that year. Hence, 4,166 more for the last six months of the present year would equal the record of 1889.

"Real estate has only begun to boom," said a gentleman of real estate prominence to the writer the other day, and the sentiment struck home because of our appreciation of the generous influence the present political house-cleaning will have on the investment value of real property in this city. If it were possible to approximate how much real estate has been penalized because of the diversion of public by the political gangs that have heretofore mismanaged municipal affairs chiefly for the purpose of housing and fostering place-hunters, it might then be possible to approach a correct estimate of how small a tax rate and assessed value would be in keeping with an economical and progressive yearly budget of the city's expenditures.

There is no use in mincing words. Real estate in this city has not been as popular for an investment as it has been in other cities for years, because it has been made the victim of political juggling.

It is fair to say now, however, that, through reason of the unhorsing of the political masters and the rigid economy that will surely follow in every direction, no alarm need be felt as to any considerable increase in the present tax rate.

It will be seen by our tables that we have already this year 5,147 new two-story dwellings, 541 three-story and 96 four-story—or, altogether, 5,784 new dwellings houses. Hence, the problem of supply and demand as to buildings of this character must soon be faced, for, while at present there seems to be no falling off in the demand for small houses, it is quite apparent that there are more vacant dwellings than at this time last year. Inquiry among those having large rental lists of high-priced as well as low-priced dwellings would not justify this statement, for we know of one concern with a very large rental list of mixed houses, including even those renting for $100 per month, that had only one-tenth of one per cent. vacant.

One downtown real estate agent, with a list of 1,300 small dwellings, had but two vacant.

It must be kept in mind that if there are more vacant than last year there are also a great many more dwellings.

We find some changes among our working people, for inquiry among the savings fund institutions shows a decrease in depositors as well as in the volume of money deposited when compared with last year. An unusual number of accounts have been closed, which would indicate decreased earnings or increased necessities. Probably the latter, for our people seem well employed, as promptness in the payment of rents indicate.

The prominent feature of the year is the limited number of large buildings that have been started as well as the scarcity of this character among our architects. Our tables record but one office building over two stories this year, against 3 during the same months last year; warehouses are three less; factories six less; engine and boiler houses six less; breweries and bottling houses one less; stores (not "stores and dwellings"), one less; churches three less; miscellaneous buildings nine less. In fact, the increase in large and industrial buildings is limited to dye and drug houses, which are three more than last year; foundries and shops six more; school houses nine more.

Architects express strong hope that activity in heavy work will be resumed this fall.

Mr. W. Bruce Barrow, whose specialty is mill and factory sites and buildings, has kindly given us the following:

"Since the publication of your last special issue the factory business has continued about the same as at that time, which was in a fair condition. The manufacturers seem to be able to keep the mills running on about a regular or half time. The conservative policy of the first failures, to my knowledge, among the manufacturers, and money seems to be easy; but the factory business itself lacked the snap which it had through the extremely good times of about two years ago.

"We have been disposing of quite a number of medium sized factories, such as contain from 10,000 to 30,000 square feet. There has been quite a demand for this size plant, but the demand has not been for very large factories running into the 50,000 square feet and upward.

"The manufacturers, as far as I have talked with them, do not seem to have lost heart, and are looking forward for a bright fall and winter of 1905. There has been dullness among the iron industries and the manufacturers of cotton goods generally.

"There seems to be no reason for any one becoming alarmed at the dullness which has existed over the country, the cause of which I am unable to say, but it might have been the fear of an overproduction.

"Since the first of the year we have sold quite a number of building sites for factories of the class named, and a few of the larger kind, which said larger factories are to be occupied partly by the manufacturers with several floors being let for rent. The few believing that a large factory with tenants is better than running a small factory for hire, and the fact that the latter help bear the expenses. This also gives them the opportunity of securing more space in their own buildings at such times as they may desire to increase and need more space. No matter how dull the times might be, there are certain parties who will take the chances and build these large plants, pending better times.

"What I mean to refer to in the early part of this letter is the condition in general throughout the country. Personally, I am not at all annoyed by this dullness, and am making every preparation for a very active fall and winter."

The opinion of Mr. Barrow as to industrial interest is of more than usual importance and justifies our giving his statement in full.

Operational building this year has been unusually popular, and the buying demand has been profitable as well as vigorous as the natural result of ability on the part of our people and the radical changes which are going on in certain sections of the Jew and Italian settlements are crowding out the old residents, and the moving sentiment is the big factor in the present small dwelling demand. How long will this last? At the question. Our answer is, as long as present conditions in many parts of Europe continue, and until the enterprise of our operative building reaches the point of saturation, with the increase of population, whether native or foreign.

Our tables of two and three-story dwelling construction should excite general interest, for they embrace the essential features of this year's work up to June 30th. For out of the total of 6,654 new buildings of all kinds 5,688 are two and three-story dwellings, and indeed the total investment of $17,884,194 would present but a slim appearance if the cost of the two and three-story dwellings, which amounts to, even at our conservative basis, $12,349,800, were deducted.

The following wards show noticeable gains in two-story dwellings: First ward, 47; Twentieth, 16; Twenty-first, 52; Twenty-second, 35; Twenty-third, 31; Twenty-fifth, 263; Twenty-sixth, 55; Twenty-seventh, 362; Thirty-third, 369; Thirty-sixth, 34; Thirty-eighth, 85; Thirty-ninth, 244; Fortieth, 164; Forty-first, 34; Forty-second, 92.

In three-story dwellings the gains by wards are as follows: Third ward, 5; Twenty-first, 17; Twenty-third, 5; Twenty-fifth, 8; Twenty-seventh, 26; Twenty-ninth, 15; Thirty-first, 15; Forty-first, 17; Forty-second, 8.

West Philadelphia, composed of the Twenty-fourth, Twenty-seventh, Thirty-fourth and Fortieth wards, two-story dwellings, does not show the increase of former years, for the only gains this year are in the Twenty-seventh, 362, and the Fortieth, 164; and yet the figures show that West Philadelphia, as a whole has erected 156 more two-story dwellings than for the first six months of last year, the figures being 2,232 for 1904, and 2,479 for 1905.

We find, however, a gain in three-story dwellings of 26 in the Twenty-seventh ward, and of 90 in the Fortieth; the Twenty-fourth lost 12 and the Thirty-fourth 20.

The noticeable gains in three-story dwellings are: In the Third ward, 5; Twenty-first, 17; Twenty-third, 6; Twenty-fifth, 8; Twenty-seventh, 26; Thirty-third, 369; Thirty-sixth, 34; Forty-first, 34; Forty-second, 8. Yet the total gain in these dwellings over the entire city is only 100, while the gain in two-story dwellings is 1,389.

The transfers of real estate this year up to June 30th, inclusive, number 10,284, against 9,828 for the same period last year—a difference of 456. The value of the transfers this year thus far is $58,611,679.26, while last year it was $50,679,500. The difference being $7,932,178.88. This then is the key to the real estate question, for it indicates more than anything else the people's sentiment as to the value of real property for home use as well as for investment.

The mortgage incumbrance on the property transferred this year amounts to $30,134,636.93, or 31.1 per cent. In 1904 (6 months) it was 46 per cent, 1903, 34.4 per cent; 1902, 39.1 per cent; 1901, 39 per cent, and in 1900, 39.7 per cent. The increase of percentage of mortgage incumbrance this year is, we think, the result of an increase in the desire to secure mortgages for investment.

The ground rents this year amount to $312,034.74, or on a six per cent. basis a further incumbrance of $5,200,579.06, which is about 8.8 per cent. additional incumbrance, or in other words, the total incumbrance on the property transferred this year is 60.2 per cent., or more than in any year since the publication of this journal.

There has been sold at auction real estate to the amount of $1,701,879.55. Rather poor business when the value of the sales private are considered. The mortgage incumbrance on the properties sold at auction amounts to $10,700, while the ground rents amount to $665.25.

We give below the table of transfers of real estate since 1889:

KEYSTONE

THE IDEAL LINING FOR ALL KINDS OF BUILDINGS

Under Tin Roofs it prevents condensation and prolongs life of Tin.

Saves its cost every winter in coal bills—several times in some buildings.

Outlasts the building; always elastic; will not pack down or settle; light in weight and easily applied; flexible—not brittle. Fits odd corners; contains more dead air than very many layers of Sheathing Paper.

You can examine during any Week Day

we have installed there for the purpose of heating the building and for public inspection.

EVERYBODY is invited to examine our System of Heating, using an ordinary hot air furnace, and particularly those who are at all skeptical as to the perfect and continuous circulation of the hot air, or those who are credulous as to the effectiveness, efficiency, economy and easy management of our System of Heating by circulated hot air.

BUILDERS' HARDWARE

The Special Attention of Architects and Builders is called to THE PINKERTON FLOOR SURFACING MACHINE

This method of surfacing floors has proven to be far superior to any method yet invented. It does away with plane marks, gouges, tears and all other defects left in floors by the ordinary hand planing. This machine leaves no shavings or dust behind, and is especially adapted to surfacing large floor spaces, such as floors of Department Stores, Dancing Halls, Skating Rinks, etc. Architects and builders having floor work of any kind are kindly requested to write us for an estimate. We do all kinds of Floor Laying; Planing and Finishing, Hardwoods and Parquetry Flooring.

HALL-KLINE CO.'S BIG YEAR IN MANTELS, TILES, HEATERS AND RANGES

"Competition" is red hot. Figuring very close, but somehow or other those needing things in our line seem to give this old house the preference," said Mr. Chas. B. Kline, of the Hall-Kline Co., 1927-29 31 Market street, to the writer the other day. "Why, this is the biggest year this house has ever had," continued Mr. Kline. "We have right now orders booked for work in hundreds of houses, not mentioning those under way, some of which will take months to complete. A few of the big jobs we have completed with our usual drive-ahead fashion are the Chalfont Hotel, Atlantic City; Chas. Edgerton's house at Coatesville, Pa.; Pres. Coatesville Boiler Works; Thos. Fisher's house, Merion, Pa.; Empire Trust Co. Bldg., W. Philadelphia; Jacob Reed's Sons, Chestnut street above Broad street; H. C. Butcher House, southwest corner Twenty-second and Locust streets; St. Thomas' Episcopal Church, Whitmarsh, Pa.; Lawyer Clark's house, Chestnut Hill, Pa.; 374 houses for Mr. John Megraw, being the largest operation in Philadelphia. All these houses are of the highest grade and contain the latest designed cabinet work, made especially for Mr. Megraw. Also the following operations: Robert McDugal, Charles Shetzline, Thomas Duff, Robert Hammond, Seward, Bowser, S. G. Humphreys, W. H. Yelland, Frank D. Williams."

This firm is also busy on a number of out-of-town contracts, so that from present indications the volume of business for the year 1905 will be far ahead of year 1904. Although working their men overtime they find it difficult to keep up with orders which they now have on their books, and should the business continue to increase they may be compelled to look for more room, as the large corps of workmen which they now employ feel the restriction of present facilities.
